myhomemove breaks records

On Friday 31st July, myhomemove the country's largest provider of conveyancing services, completed on a transaction every 74 seconds through it's wholly owned conveyancing practice Premier Property Lawyers!

This means that nearly 300 first time buyers, couples or families were able to enjoy their new home for the weekend.

It was cause for celebration all round as their performance in July 2009 was 5% more than they achieved during July 2007, and only 5% less than their record performance in August that same year.

It's very much a team effort – with every part of the business playing it's part. At one end of the process its digital post room is dealing with over 20,000 sheets of paper each day, and at the other end it's accounts team is dealing with £ten's of millions of mortgages for it's sellers and buyers.

In the middle are the case handlers who have been working harder than ever as the market has seen signs of improvement, Stephen Hayter, myhomemove's Sales Director acknowledges that this increase in business brings it's own challenges: " We know that some lawyers are having to recruit the odd one or two case handlers, in our case we have already recruited well over 30 and are interviewing many more".

Leicester has also proven to be a swine flu hotspot which when mixed with well earned summer holidays has meant that everyone has been covering for each other - often at very short notice.

By way of a thank you the Directors hosted an "it's a knock-out" style Summer Fayre on Saturday where 250 of the staff, their partners and families got together – competing for prizes across a range of events from Sumo egg and spoon to Gladiator style pugil sticks!
